Welcome to TERCERADIX

a luminarium

somewhere between a womb and a cathedral

Since 1992 Architects of Air's luminaria, inspired by the beauty of natural geometry and by sacred architecture, have enchanted millions of visitors around the world.

The luminosity of light and colour inside is created purely by the light shining through the coloured plastic. All the individual pieces have been cut & put together by hand in our workshop in Nottingham, England.

Each new luminarium experiments with ways to frame light. Ten of Terceradix's domes feature "light-catchers" designed to project below a range of colours previously unseen in a luminarium.

Once inside please take your time and walk slowly. Keep to the paths that are in contact with the ground as the plastic is delicate. There are pods where you can sit down or lie back to absorb the ambience.
